LILLINGTON SCHOOL HISTORY

Since Harnett County is this year celebrating its Centennial, the Annual Staff thought that the students would be more interested in a brief history of its school than in the history of the Senior class.

The first school established in what is now the Lillington District was Cumberland Academy, located near the Summerville Presbyterian Church. The Academy was organized in 1845 as a high school and was converted into an academy. The children from Lillington walked to school along a small footpath.

This school served the area until 1870, when the first school was established in Lillington. About this time seven men of the Lillington Baptist Church built a small frame school house where the Misses Laura and Lucretia Parker now live and hired Mr. Daniel McIntyre and his wife to teach. In 1876 Reverend William Brunt was hired to teach in the school and was paid $800 per year.

In 1890 this building was sold for a dwelling. From 1890-1903 the children from Lillington attended a school about 1-2 miles from Lillington on the Fort Bragg Road. This school was called Turkey Breast or Turkle Breast. In 1903 a three-room wooden building was erected in the southern part of town where now stand the three Layton houses on 8th Street.

In 1914 the first brick building was erected. This building is now the primary building of the Lillington School. The first commencement exercises for the new school were held under a tent, since the building was incomplete.

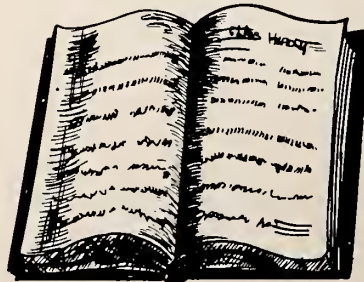

A Farm-Life Department was added through the efforts of Reverend Frank Hare, and two dormitories were built, one for boys and one for girls, for boarding students. The school received funds from the state and federal government to pay the salaries of the teachers of agriculture and home economics.

The present high school building was erected in 1926 and the elementary wing was added in 1951, following the passage of the General Assembly's Act of 1907, creating a law for the establishment and maintenance of public high schools in each county. The schools were supported by local taxation.

For many years the athletic program was carried on in an old wooden and tin gymnasium. This was finally torn down and a modern gym erected in 1948. Graduates of Bunnlevel Elementary School attend Lillington School. From the first, 25 per cent to 50 per cent of the graduates of the Lillington Schools have attended college or institutions of higher learning.

Members of the Lillington School Board at the present time are: Dr. A. W. Peede, Chairman; Archie Taylor, Secretary; Grady C. Matthews, A. J. White, and Gerald F. Hobbs. Enrolled this term: 577 elementary and 248 high school students, with a total of 29 teachers.

Each year Lillington Schools turn out students who take further training to become doctors, ministers, missionaries, teachers, nurses, dentists, newspaper editors, lawyers, and politicians.
